Traveling Roads of Culpeper County

State Route 229, Rixeyville Road, at intersection of secondary road 630 near Muddy Run

Culpeper High School is located near the town of Culpeper where U. S. and Virginia highways come in like the spokes of a wheel. There exists a striking similarity between the highways of travel and the highways of learning. From all parts of Culpeper County students travel over four U. S. highways, two Virginia primary roads, and countless secondary ones to traverse the road to learning—the school.

Culpeper County stretches far and wide, needing main highways and smaller roads to make each point accessible to another. Likewise, the student's education must extend far, he needing each path and lane of school life to obtain his goal. A CHS student's route of learning consists of main highways, minor dirt roads, and maybe even a byway, but it all makes for a well-rounded education.

The COLONNADE Staff presents the record of the 1955-56 year at Culpeper County High School, the people, the place, and the activities which are the essence of this memorable year. The staff hopes that this book will prove enjoyable now and be the road over which memory in later years will travel to recall for the reader the happenings of the year.

Mrs. Shepherd Recognized for Contributions

Mrs. James O. Shepherd, teacher of English for four years, has given untiringly of her time and effort. Although having been affiliated with the school for a comparatively short period, Mrs. Shepherd has taught Senior English, directed the senior play and sponsored the debate team, although there was no club for this last activity. Her diligent work and love of dramatics has contributed much to the success of presenting real drama in the senior plays.

Both in and outside of school, Mrs. Shepherd is a friend to all students. She is always glad to help some student regardless of the nature of the problem.

The 1956 COLONNADE Staff is proud to have this opportunity to honor Mrs. Shepherd for her contributions to Culpeper High School. It is with deep appreciation and sincerity that they dedicate the 1956 COLONNADE to Mrs. Shepherd.

Three Who Went The Second Mile

MRS. HUDSON

MRS. ROSSON

MR. TOLBERT

MRS. GEORGE NELSON HUDSON 1885-1955

Coming to Culpeper High School in the fall of 1919 as teacher of home economics, Miss Ida Mae Dinges later became Mrs. George Nelson Hudson and spent the rest of her life in the Culpeper community. She was a native of Frederick County, Virginia and had, previous to her coming to Culpeper, taught in Alabama.

With the exclusion of two years from 1924 to 1926 she was a member of Culpeper High School faculty until she retired in 1949. Among the activities connected with the teaching of home economics she was founder of and adviser to the Home Economics Club later known as the Future Homemakers of America. In 1940 the seniors dedicated the COLONNADE to Mrs. Hudson in appreciation of "her many years of helpful advice, patient understanding, and invaluable service through the Home Economics Department."

Today scattered throughout the town and county of Culpeper and elsewhere are girls who are happier persons and more efficient homemakers because of the training they received in Mrs. Hudson's classes.

MRS. LEE FRANKLIN ROSSON 1926-1955

Mrs. Lee Franklin Rosson whose tragic death September 20, 1955, resulted from an automobile accident, was beginning her eighth year of teaching in the Culpeper County School system. She joined the high school faculty September, 1949. Previously she had taught in the Culpeper Elementary School. The former Miss Margaret Johns, she was a native of Honesdale, Pennsylvania, and a graduate of Susquehanna University. While affiliated with the school, Mrs. Rosson taught English, social studies, and Spanish.

In extra-curricular activities, she was co-sponsor of the Y-Clubs, contributing largely to the success of the organization. As Spanish teacher, she sponsored the Pan American Club for all Spanish students. Many activities of the clubs she sponsored benefited from her originality and talent, and her influence on the school will be long felt. There were no limits to the energy and ability she expended aiding the students in both class and extra-curricular activity.

MR. ROBERT RED TOLBERT 1884-1955

Born in Greenwood County, South Carolina, Mr. Robert Red Tolbert attended Clemson College, coming to Culpeper in 1918. For 27 years he was principal and agriculture teacher in Culpeper, retiring in 1945 to become head of the vocational agriculture department of Culpeper County High School. Previously he had taught in Mississippi and in Frederick County, Virginia. On July 1, 1954, Mr. Tolbert retired from his 42-year teaching career.

Officials of the State Education Association present at a banquet in his honor given by former pupils September, 1955, paid high tribute to Mr. Tolbert's "qualities of Christian character, his effectiveness as a teacher and his attributes of leadership." During many years of teaching and leadership in Culpeper, he always held the respect and devotion of his students, his fellow teachers, and people of the community.

PRESENTING THE DAILY DESTINATION

OF STUDENT TRAVELERS

A modern school building well equipped and staffed by a well-prepared faculty was the daily destination of the high school students of Culpeper County. Classrooms, teachers, and a modern course of study combined to meet the purpose for which the stream of students flowed over county roads, town streets, and country lanes.

The main road down the highway of learning was the academic one stressing high standards of achievement. The faculty and administration pointed out the courses for students to follow and also acquainted them with the basic knowledge of a particular subject. But the faculty were more than teachers; each one was individually interested in the welfare and progress of the student down the road of learning.

Faculty members at CHS numbered twenty-eight, all of whom endeavored to make the road of life a little smoother as they strove to instill traits of citizenship along with the readin', writin', and 'rithmetic. Each faculty member was adviser for a club or athletic organization, proving their desire to go a step farther than the usual distance. Many times this advisershup demanded attendance at dances, chaperoning an all-day journey or a field trip, or long hours of supervised activity after school. Through the superb guidance and instruction, the students learned to travel the road of good school and community citizenship.

The purpose of Culpeper High School is to train students for citizenship and to train them to assume their place in society after graduation, whether it be in business, home, or college. The faculty and administrators endeavor to achieve this purpose through a two-fold program. The curriculum which offers commercial, college preparatory, and general classes, is the basis for knowledge while the extra-curriculum program develops traits admirable to good citizenship.

For the first time, Culpeper High offers a Carnegie unit for the completion of two years of physical education and to the eighth grade courses. This new system staggers the requirements for graduation. The Classes of 1956 and 1957 must have attained sixteen Carnegie units, while the Classes of 1958 and 1959 being required to take physical education will consequently graduate with more units. The Class of 1960 and thereafter will be required to attain four and one-half units in the ability. P. Kilby, at stand, uses her finger as well as tongue in trying to outtalk M. Peters, in background. Other members, seated, are B. Crane, B. Hundley.

eighth grade, and 17 Carnegie units above the eighth grade, one of these being in physical education.

All three courses, general, commercial, and college preparatory, require of all students four units of English, one of science, two of math, one of United States History, and one of senior civics.

The general course is offered to those students not planning to attend college or pursue the commercial field of learning. In addition to the basic requirements, the student may choose from a variety of classes designed to acquaint him with various types of occupations. Home economics, agriculture, shop, art, music, DO, and DE constitute the general classes, while commercial courses—shorthand, typing, book-keeping, and business arithmetic, and college preparatory courses including Latin, algebra, world history, chemistry, physics, and journalism are available to the student taking the general course. Students desiring to do commercial or secretarial work follow the course of study designed to best fit them for this work. are sufficiently adequate, some students continue their training in a secretarial school.

The college preparatory course is designed to prepare students for college work. Culpeper High School has a wide variety of possible selections in electives so that the college bound student can meet the requirements of the college of his choice.

Required units of math must be two years of algebra, in addition to a year of plane geometry. The CHS student may choose the remainder of his sixteen units from college courses which include Spanish, Latin, chemistry, journalism, physics, solid geometry, trigonometry, and world history. He may also enroll in commercial and general classes if there is sufficient room in the class.

Students attaining an "A" or "B" on all subjects at the end of the six weeks grading period hold the distinction of being placed on the honor roll. The student must also attain satisfactory on conduct. A "C" average is required for recommendation to college.

Culpeper High School restricts membership in extra-curricular activities by the point system to assure that these activities, although important, do not overshadow regular school work.

Lewis, at meeting in Richmond.

Shaking hands with the governor, receiving a trophy, being high magazine salesman—these were but a few of the experiences teachers and students shared.

Two members of CHS were honored as being photographed with Governor Thomas Stanley—Robert Lipscomb for triumphing over all other sophomores in the state in an essay contest and Miss Virginia Lewis for being the fourth woman in the VEA's existence for nearly 100 years to serve as its president.

Culpeper High School was proud of all such honors bestowed on its students. This was merely evidence again that CHS's members excel in various phases of extra-curricular and classroom activities.

Standing behind the serving counter all ready for the first onrush of "starved" students at 11:40 are the cafeteria staff, Mrs. R. Hunt, Mrs. W. Thompson, and Mrs. G. Carder.

Without the bus drivers, cafeteria workers, and the faithful services of the custodian, Culpeper High School could not proceed down the road to higher education. The bus drivers, both student and adult, haul students to and from school everyday. Some of the ever-cautious drivers made two trips each morning and evening, hauling both elementary and high school students. They are not limited to driving only before and after school. They transport ball teams to every athletic event. Football, basketball, baseball, softball, and track teams are entirely dependent on the drivers for transportation.

Serving the meal is but a small portion of the work for the cafeteria workers. These women prepare a variety of meals for the student body, including meat, vegetables, milk, and fruit or dessert. The students go to lunch on two shifts, the cafeteria being too crowded with everyone eating at the same time. At 11:40, the students having class on the first floor go to lunch, while the remainder of the group is in class. The situation is reversed at 12:30 when the group on the second floor eats while the others are in class. The custodian of CHS is a most important person. He has the school spotless every morning, only to clean all over again every evening. He puts in light bulbs, unjams locked doors, and takes general care of the school.

PRESENTING 616 TRAVELERS

ON ROAD OF LEARNING

Highways are constructed for travelers, just as schools are built for the students. The students from all parts of Culpeper County came to Culpeper together for the composition of Culpeper County High School. With 616 students enrolled, CHS housed more students than ever before. The increased enrollment aroused more school spirit and enthusiasm at the numerous school functions. Whether it be an eagerly awaited football encounter or a Sunday evening band concert, students assembled to thrill to their fellow classmates' accomplishments.

Attending classes throughout the day together, the class members came to cherish one another's friendship. Being in clubs, assemblies, and attending conventions together strengthened their comradeship. The members of the student body traveled on the road of learning or well on the County roads together. Traveling to athletic events, plays, concerts, social functions and classes provided the student with an opportunity to know and understand his classmate. Trying to solve an algebra problem, performing an experiment, or helping another with a history project caused the students to become enlightened on the pathway of learning.

PRESENTING ACTIVITIES OF TRAV

ELERS ON ROADS AND WAYSIDES

On the highway of education, the CHS students turned aside from their daily academic path to engage in another phase of school life. However, the extra-curricular activities were in no way only a side path for they played an important part in developing leadership and sportsmanship.

The organizations were many and varied, each appealing to a particular group of students. Whether participating in a play, or hanging posters for an art collection, students received training in co-operation, leadership, and the ability to get along with others.

Assemblies, dances, concerts, skits, and parades resulted from the planning and concentration of efforts of club members. Each club had the opportunity to present an assembly on Fridays, while many organizations also decorated the bulletin board weekly. For the first time, almost every organization sponsored a dance on the week ends. These ranged from the sock hop, featuring bermudas, to the formal Sweetheart Cotillion. Such features made Culpeper High School more than a mere road sign on the highway of education; it was a definite goal of many accomplishments.

CHS students were constantly aware of the many opportunities given by sports along the roadside. These clubs, activities, and sports were some of the many milestones in their journey through learning.

Pepergram Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Celebrating the 25 years of existence of the Pepergram, the staff published an anniversary issue February 13. Staff members pored over the first issues and dug out nuggets of interest to present readers. They drew comparisons between school activities and classes of 25 years ago and those of today. The completed anniversary issue gave readers a look at CHS in 1931-32 and pointed out changes. Pictures showed the first editor, business manager, adviser, and the present editors and business manager. In the spring the staff further celebrated their birthday by having a picnic.

Winning first prize in the annual homecoming parade was one of the Pepergram's most exciting experiences of the year. Barbara Ross was in charge of the float which depicted a James Monroe mouse caught in the mouse-trap built by the Devils.

The Pepergram made history this year by introducing six-page issues. The staff published four six-page issues and six four-page issues instead of the customary twelve four-page numbers. The back-to-school, the Christmas, the anniversary, and the senior issues had six pages.

Members of the student body wrote stories, poems, and features for the Christmas edition. The best work was printed in the paper and the writer received a small prize.

In order to determine the students' opinions on certain subjects the Pepergram sponsored two special polls. One, on the students' taste in entertainment, was printed in the fourth edition of the paper. The other of a more serious nature concerned governmental aid for higher education.

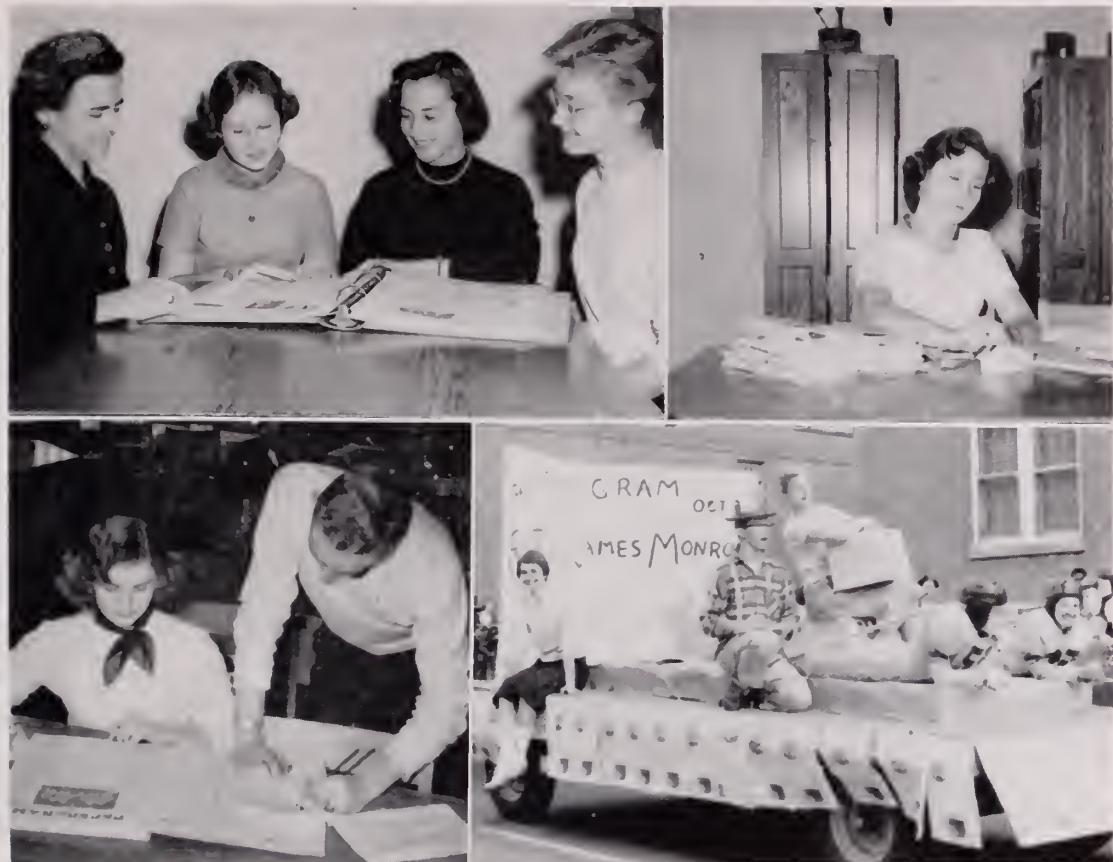

The assignment sheet which gave to all members of the editorial staff an article to be written for the next issue of the Pepergram appeared before each issue. The articles included sports, features, and editorials.

While the editorial staff wrote for the publication the business staff was indispensable also selling ads and selling subscriptions. The Pepergram had a circulation of about 750. The advertising staff solicited ads early in the fall and they appeared alternately for the first time this year.

Through the exchange program, whereby the staff sent the Pepergram to other schools and received their paper, the staff members learned many useful ideas.

Delegates representing the Pepergram Staff attended SIPA in the spring. At this convention they attended the various classes on newspaper work. The four delegates alternately went to classes on newspaper editing, photography, and layout designs. Of the main interest to the staff was the Saturday night banquet at which time they learned the rating of the Pepergram as compared with other schools in their particular group. Attending this convention with the adviser were Betty Hundley, Cherry Gorham, Ann Rawlings, and Barbara Ross.

“Stylewise,” a new column in the Pepergram gave scoop on the latest fads and fashions. Gazelle Green wrote this column. “Hi News and Views” was the new name given a familiar column in which humorous and interesting features and fads could be seen.

Interested junior and senior staff members tried out for membership in Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists. The last issue of the paper featured seniors and graduation exercises.

Safety Council Sees Big League Game

Seated: J. Creel—vice president, G. Myers—reporter, E. Pitt—president, C. Martin—secretary-treasurer, Mr. H. Hash—adviser. Second row: F. Woodward, M. Brown, S. Martin, L. Mills, F. Clatterbuck, J. Bragg. Third row: E. Frazier, L. Hoffman, R. Martin, S. Frazier, T. Botts,

Two trips to Washington, D. C., gave incentive to the year's activities for the Safety Council. The club always looked forward to the National Safety Parade in the nation's capital early in May sponsored by the American Automobile Association, and in which boys and girls from Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia participated. The biggest reward for faithful service was a trip April 28, to see a major league baseball game between Baltimore Orioles and the Washington Senators at Griffith Stadium. The council had missed this trip in 1955. Showing an identification card and wearing the official belt and badge allowed the patrolmen to enter the stadium where they sat in a reserved section.

To promote good safety practices in all matters concerning transportation of pupils to and from school and also within the school was the purpose of the Safety Council. To carry out this purpose at least two patrolmen served on each bus. One was the inside and rear bus patrolman, while the other was the outside and front patrolman. Considering the statistics that 14 buses serving 541 out of 615 high school boys and girls traveled approximately 1200 miles in one day, one can see the extent of the patrol's area of work. Figures showed that 88 per cent of all high school students rode buses.

The duties of school bus patrolmen included assisting in every way possible the facilitating of loading and unloading of pupils, setting examples of safety practices, and exercising leadership in all phases of pupil transportation. Efficiency and safety were the goals of every safety patrolman. The safety council was proud to have done regular bus duty without accident to date.

The council required all patrolmen to wear the badges and belts which are the official emblems of safety patrolmen all over America. Safety patrolmen left sixth period classes two minutes ahead of the other students in order to be in place to direct loading of their respective buses.

The safety patrol assisted with the gala Home-Coming Parade. Patrolmen took charge of the intersection street crossings and kept the parading pupils in formation.

The council met every first Monday on regular activity schedule. At these meetings, usually held in room 39, each councilman made a report telling of the happenings on his bus that contributed to the safety of pupils. In case a safety officer had a problem, the council attempted to help solve it. Often they consulted with the principal, Mr. James H. Combs, to get help with outstanding problems. Mr. Combs also reported regulations for bus drivers that might affect patrolmen.

SCA Directs Recreation Program

"We want recreation during lunch period," the voice of the CHS student body told its Student Council. The Council considered the problem and investigated the possibility of having ping-pong and shuffleboard games during this free time. This was just one of the many problems the Student Cooperative Association considered during 1955-56. Other suggestions brought to the Council by homeroom representatives included the revision of the point system and the raising of the flag each morning.

The six standing committees, assembly, bulletin board, clean-up, health-recreation, monitors, and ushers handled some of the problems. These committees also aided in keeping the school day moving smoothly.

For the first time a former SCA president, C. F. Yates, Jr., addressed the student body at the installation of the officers and members. Another important first of 1955-56 was the affiliation with the National Association of Student Councils.

The SCA, with the Alumni Association, sponsored the fifth annual Home-Coming. Frances Haught, the students' choice for queen, reigned over the parade and game October 21. Instead of the usual Home-Coming dance, the SCA sponsored dancing in the cafeteria after the last football game.

The Council gave parents a chance to get an inside look at school life at Parents' Night, November 10. Following their children's schedules, mom and pop scurried from class to class where the teachers explained the subjects. After "school" the guests gathered in the cafeteria for refreshments and a chance to discuss their children's progress with the faculty.

Officers Joe Korte, Frances Haught, Patsy Kilby, and Barbara Ross, and a special delegate, Tommy Haught, attended the district SCA meeting at Stafford High School November 28. There they joined discussion groups to discuss the theme, "Scholarship, Character, Achievement."

Seeing the need to make students more courtesy conscious, homeroom representatives answered a questionnaire, "Where Do You Rate on the Courtesy Thermometer?" The officers discussed the results of the poll in each homeroom.

Students elected Wayne Smith president for the coming year in February. Other new officers were Herbert Hash, vice president; Barbara Ross, secretary; and Jay Geest, treasurer. Three of these officers, Wayne Smith, Herbert Hash and Jay Geest attended the State Convention at Longwood College March 16-17.

At commencement exercises the Council presented a medal to the senior who showed outstanding leadership qualities. The Council made the selection of the person to be honored.

Chairman of the standing committees included Charlotte Gore, Assembly; Betty Lohr, Monitors; Linda Guinn, Bulletin Board; Thomas Haught, Ushers; Joseph Weakley, Clean-Up, and Cecilia Vernon, Health and Recreation.

November 21 was dawning—the day of the big celebration—Home-Coming. Everyone was excited with the thought of preparing for and participating in the annual festivities.

Students worked hard decorating the floats, perfecting every detail until 12:00 when the judges viewed the various designs and ideas. The judges based their decision on originality, relationship between club and celebration, presentation of the alumni, and connection with the football game. The Pepogram float claimed top honors, with Industrial Arts Club taking second place.

The parade went off as scheduled and to the spectators everything looked quite calm. One fact the spectators did not know—the COLONNADE float's flat tire. After hurried service, the tire was fixed, the float reached the parade assembly place in time, proving that the COLONNADE always meets their deadline.

The big game with Fredericksburg came and for everyone but the alumni the festivities had come to a close. The Class of 1920 were the guests of honor at a business and social gathering on Saturday night for the Culpeper County Alumni Association.

Bus Patrolmen Aid Safety

The Safety Council played an important part in the safety of the students who rode buses. The bus patrolman was a familiar sight as he held out his red flag while students crossed the road. The safety council members were kept busy as they hopped out at every stop.

Cleaning the campus, raising and lowering the flag daily, keeping order in the hall via the monitor system—these were but a few of the numerous essential activities the SCA performed.

center right, explains classroom work to Mr. L. Nelson during social hour of Parents' Night. D. Bennett, safety patrolman, lower left, holds flag as A. Frazier and M. Saunders cross highway. E. Yowell, lower right, raises flag before school.

"Parents' Night" when no students were allowed, was another SCA-sponsored activity. Parents frantically rushed through the building trying to distinguish between the up and down steps, proceeded through a student schedule and enjoyed a social hour following.

Celebrating the successful football season, the SCA played host to the team, cheerleaders, and entire student body after the Madison encounter. The 1957 election, committee meetings, and SCA convention kept the organization busy for the remainder of the year.

CHS Band Plays for State Meeting

"You're honoring Miss Lewis," reminded Mr. Walter Thomas, as blue and gold uniformed boys and girls turned up their instruments in the pit of Richmond's Mosque. Presenting a concert October 27, 1955, at the Mosque auditorium for the Virginia Education Association over which Miss Virginia Lewis presided was the first time that the band had had the privilege of appearing before a statewide audience. Musical numbers included, "Parading the Brasses," by Acton E. Ostling; a selection from "Show Boat," by Jerome Kern; "In a Persian Market," by Albert W. Ketelbey; "Blue Tango," by LeRoy Anderson, and closing with "The Best Loved Southern Melodies," by Al Hayes.

The band performed at home football games and traveled to one away game at Orange. They marched in the Home-Coming parade and performed fancy maneuvers at the halftime that night at football game.

In the early fall the musicians presented an assembly consisting of six marches preceded by "The Star Spangled Banner." They were "Tenth Regiment," "S. T. B. A.," "Independentia," "Our Director," "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and "Liberty Bell."

Entertaining the Rotary Club they presented the same selections which they played for the VEA convention. They rendered the same selections again at the Parent Band Association meeting, at which time a representative from the Lyons Band Company gave an interesting display of different instruments.

Proudly returning home from the Orange annual Christmas Parade with first place and $100, the 60-member club marched in the home Christmas Parade that same afternoon. More in the Christmas spirit than ever, bandsmen held their annual Christmas concert on Sunday afternoon, December 18, in the high school gym. They played the following selections: "Christmas Greetings," by Harold L. Walters; "The First Noel," by Clair W. Johnson; "We Three Kings," by Harold L. Walters; "The Story of Christmas," by Clair W. Johnson; "Adeste Fideles," by Harold W. Walters; "Jingle Bells Rhapsody," by J. Pierpoint and "Christmas Reverence," by Clair W. Johnson.

To start the new year off right the band opened the '56 March of Dimes Campaign. Sue Guinn and Sue Gallagher represented the CHS Band at the All-State Meet at Wakefield High School February 12, 13, and 14, 1956.

The group took part in the District Music Festival at McLean High School with other music organizations and held a spring concert in the high school gym. They also participated in the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia.

Industrial Art Students Organize

Seated: W. Tapp—president, J. Bache—vice president, B. Gore—secretary, G. Thayer—treasurer, Mr. E. Weld—adviser. Second row: W. Eaheart, G. Jenkins, R. Leake, J. Arthur, F. Myers, L. Hoffman. Third row: J. Bazzle,

A new instructor with new ideas spelled a new organization. Mr. Edward Weld began teaching vocational shop, September 1, at CHS and shortly afterward he organized the Industrial Arts Club. The purpose of the club was to enable students to develop better skills, to learn more about the shop and shop tools, and to learn the values of the materials used in the shop. This club provided opportunities for occupational exploration which aimed to give vocational guidance. It also strove to promote interest in manufacturing and industry. To be eligible for membership in the Industrial Arts Club a student must have been in the ninth grade or above and maintained an average of "C" or above in industrial arts.

The Club won second place with a float entered in the Home-Coming Parade, the theme of which was "Let's Nail Monroe Down." The float showed a Culpeper player with a huge metal hammer and a spoke nailing a "Monroe Jacket" to the ground. Winning second place in the parade was quite an honor for the club as, this being their first year of existence, it was therefore their first participation in Home-Coming festivities. They also built and entered a float for J. J. Newberry's store in the Christmas parade sponsored by the Retail Merchants' Association. The theme of the float was "Peace on Earth; Good Will To Men." It showed a bark house with shepherds kneeling around a manger. The manager of Newberry's donated $25 to the club for this project.

Following the trend of activities of many CHS clubs the shop boys gave a dance Saturday night, March 9, which netted money for other useful projects in the school. Although only an informal gathering, the dance proved to be quite a success. A silver offering provided for the drinks and other expenses while records furnished the music for dancing. Being the youngest member of the CHS roster of clubs did not restrict the activities of IAC members. Each Monday saw them dashing up the hill at activity period to finish a period of work or start a new project.

Time in club meetings not consumed by business was used to work in the shop to make things with plastic, and to work with metal and wood. Some of the articles made included gun rack, breadboard, planter, pen and pencil desk set, candle holders, book rack, haminer, plastic projects, and sheet metal projects. These articles were on display on Back-to-School Night for the parents to see. In general all projects on display were samples of students' work. Other students also viewed these samples of handiwork when they formed the nucleus of the Industrial Arts Club bulletin board display in the front hall of the main building.

Fifty-Four Book Wins SIPA Trophy

Seated: A. Swan—business manager, B. King—circulation manager, Miss M. Bolen—adviser, J. Moore—editor, I. Brown—typist, K. Dobyns—photographer. Standing: L. Nelson, E. Clark, J. Arnold.

Even before the staff brought home the prize winning trophy which the Southern Interscholastic Press Association awarded the '54 COLONNADE, edited by Sandra Kerrick, the 1956 staff members had begun looking around for a theme for their book. After the convention they searched for new ideas and determined to correct faults and incorporate as many suggestions given in the clinic at Lexington as possible.

Alex Swan, serving in the double capacity of business manager and advertising manager, kept busy directing the staff in the sale of 20 pages of ads. He was also responsible for drawing up the budget and then seeing that it was met. Mary Hansbrough presented classes and organizations with their bills and collected all funds. Betty Burton took charge of the old picture sale.

Barbara King and the circulation staff were responsible for selling 555 books, which together with the advertisements and club and individual representation fees accounted for the income.

Chief photographer, Kenneth Dobyns, could be seen continually taking pictures at all the events of the school. The typists, under the direction of Irene Brown, were indispensable to the staff. They spent many hours in study hall period, after school, and on Saturdays typing and re-typing copy.

The staff sent the usual four delegates to the annual SIPA conference at Lexington, May 3-4, to hear the comments and suggestions for the improvement of the book. Miss Mary George Bolen, Joan Moore, Betty Clark, Kenneth Dobyns, and Lewis Nelson attended.

Yearbook workers acclaimed the annual COLONNADE Banquet in May a big success. At that time the recipient of the honor of dedication was revealed to the entire staff who also enjoyed the privilege of viewing the books and admiring their hard work before the general circulation the following day. The sponsors and president of the Senior Class were honor guests.

IA's Frequent Shop

CHS's newest club, the Industrial Arts Club, proved to be quite an active one. The members with Mr. Edward Weld, the adviser, worked in the shop every Monday learning to manipulate the machinery. The work was beneficial as members of the club could be seen carrying odd shaped cookie cutters, planters, and gun racks home.

Picture taking, selecting senior superlatives, interviewing sponsors and presidents for additional information—these were the undertakings of the COLONNADE in meeting their deadline. Ever before the staff was the red letter date—March 1. Although steadily working throughout the year, the date seemed to slip up on the staff requiring much work on Saturday and after school.

The staff was pleased with their annual and celebrated with a banquet in May. At this time members kept the pens scratching signing each others books. For the seniors this was sad and quite time-consuming for they usually wrote an epistle to their friends.

Magazine Sales at All-Time High

Sponsoring the magazine contest was again the project of the band when they undertook to break all previous records. The band used the money for up-keep and general expenses.

Each day of the ten-day contest the homerooms tried to outsell their classmates for the box of candy bars awarded the top homeroom every day. Mr. Harry Sturgeon's homeroom proved to possess the best salesmen outselling all other homerooms. For this outstanding accomplishment they received a trip to Washington where they went sight-seeing on a day of school time.

Each student selling $10.00 worth of magazines attended a movie presented for this purpose at the local theater. Herbert Hash was high salesman for the school while John Thornton and Lewis Nelson placed second and third respectively.

Art on Display Year Around

Posters, posters, posters, everywhere—during 1955-56 the Art Club took the whole school for its exhibit hall. Delightful displays of talent graced unexpected spots all over the school. Students stood on their heads, trying to figure out name designs. Others puzzled over the artists' conception of the Culpeper of the future. Each month the bulletin board in the rear hall foyer displayed class art work, while other work frequently brightened the cafeteria.

The club got off to a good start by planning and sponsoring an art exhibit for Parents' Night. Close on the heels of Parents' Night came the Home-Coming parade in which the artists entered a float depicting Fredericksburg burning on the gridiron. A "Yellow Jacket" sizzled on a huge black griddle.

The Art Club members sponsored a dance on December 10, decorating the cafeteria with blue and gold streamers and balloons. Because it was so near the most festive season of the year, gay holly and running pine adorned the door frames and the columns. Records furnished the music.

Art Club members captured several local, district, and state prizes. Most consistently, Jackie Coffman produced winning posters in the Soil Conservation and the 12th National AAA Traffic Safety poster contests. James Bache, Ann Clark, Linda Stein, Phyllis Cly-bern, and Carolyn Sanders also won honors.

The artists competed for honors again in the AAVW Art Show at St. Stephen's parish house. Entries included soap and wood carving, oils, water colors, and modern art groups.

Club members and other interested students enjoyed a tour of the art department in Cocke Hall at the University of Virginia. Other groups visited the Washington, D. C., galleries. The club invited the student body to celebrate Easter by entering the Easter egg decorating contest.

Club members designed custom-made decorations and posters for Career Day, Church suppers, and the March of Dimes talent show. Cooperating with first-year art students, they made the gingerbread house for the Ann Wingfield production of "Hansel and Gretel". Gay posters of their making announced several coming events in CHS halls.

With the coming of spring the artists moved outside to enjoy outdoor sketching during activity periods. Spring also brought an assembly program which climaxed the year's activities. The three art classes cooperated with the club on this program which they presented May 4.

The Art Club arranged for the salon of National High School Photographic Award Prints from Eastman Kodak to be available to the citizens of Culpeper from May 7-11.

Enthusiasm Despite Small Number

Enthusiasm made up for the small number in the group of Latin II students who formed the Olympic Council of 1955-56. The new point system, restricting membership to a maximum of three clubs, caused the Council to be the smallest in its history. The club held their meetings during the regular Latin II class period on the first Friday in each month. At these meetings they planned future activities of the club and presented programs concerning Latin literature.

Every member bought a Junior Classical League pin, and the club joined the National Classical League, which has for its purpose unifying activities of state organizations. As a member the leaguers received Torch: U. S., official national publication, the stated purpose of which is "to encourage among the young people of our country an interest in and appreciation of the civilization, language, literature, and art of ancient Greece and Rome, and to give them some understanding of the debt of our own culture to that classical antiquity." The JCL'ers saw how other clubs operated and gleaned ideas for varied activities from its pages, which carried accounts of the clubs' work all over the nation.

At Home-Coming the Olympic Council constructed a float which won honorable mention in the parade. The theme was "Culpeper Fiddles While Fredericksburg Burns." On the float Christine Haught, head flunkey, "fiddled" while a James Monroe dummy "burned." Goddesses Marylee Newman and Linda Sudduth, dressed in full Roman regalia, looked on.

Janet Driskill, Sue Gretchen Gallagher, Nancy Graves, Nancy Troxell, Marylee Newman, and Christine Haught, top ranking students of the Latin I and Latin II classes, competed in the Twenty-eighth Annual Latin Tournament of the Classical Association of Virginia which took place at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, April 14. They hoped to better the record, since the Classical Association of Virginia had presented a certificate to the 1955 team for securing the rank of second among competing schools in Class B, District III. They took tests designed to show the power which the contestants have acquired in interpreting Latin of various degrees of difficulty and to remove opportunity for special tutoring by teachers, the tutoring being frowned upon by officials.

Also in April the club celebrated Latin Week, a time that is observed to point to the activities of the club and the importance of Latin. The bulletin board had as its theme "How Classical Influence is Reflected in Modern Day." The Council, following its custom of many years, presented for its assembly a playlet, carrying out the same emphasis.

Nearing the end of school, the club and their guests enjoyed a supper in the school cafeteria. To bring the Olympic Council's activities of the year to a close, a picnic drew members to William's Tearoom in the early part of June. Dues and money-raising projects, such as the selling of cookies in the cafeteria, financed these activities.

Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y Go into Y-Teen Club

The Senior Y Clubs underwent complete reorganization in the fall when the Tri-Hi-Y and the Hi-Y became coordinated following a long period of separate existence. The two clubs combined under the name Y-Teen Club to insure better cooperation from all members. Mrs. William Snead became co-adviser of the club with Mr. Harry Sturgeon, following the tragic loss of Mrs. Franklin Rosson, who had been largely responsible for the success of the clubs previously.

In November a boy and a girl from the Y-Teen Club talked to the Junior Tri-Hi-Y on the dating problems boys and girls encounter. Patricia Mills, Elizabeth Burton, Mary Hansbrough, Carol Doyle, Frances Haught, Gay Green, Betty Utz, Patricia Martin, Lewis Nelson, and Mrs. Snead attended the District Conference in Warrenton, December 3. Instead of the usual demonstration of some phase of Y work the members held a brief memorial for Mrs. Rosson. Mary Hansbrough received the honor of becoming District Secretary. The conference selected Lewis Nelson to represent it at the Model General Assembly to be held in Richmond, April 5-7.

Following the usual custom, the Y-Teen Club adopted a child for the year for whom they prepared Christmas and Easter boxes and remembered her birthday. During football season the Club sold CHS pennants to boost enthusiasm at the game and to help fill the empty treasury. Y-Teen Club sold candy at all the home basketball games.

The saying of grace was again carried out by the Club as was the securing of a minister to speak at assemblies once every month. During exam week, the club executed a Clean Living Campaign, repeating an appropriate Scripture verse each day of exams over the public address system.

The annual Christmas Dance proved a great success as four baskets were filled for the needy. Joan Moore and Rodger Printz served as general chairmen for the dance. The gala decoration team turned the cafeteria into a snow-glistened forest complete with Christmas tree and presents.

The Sweetheart Cotillion, February 10, a regular activity of the Club, monopolized the interests and energy of the members for several weeks preceding. Having as its theme, "Hearts and Flowers," the decorating committee headed by Fannie Butler and Rodger Printz adorned the gymnasium with red and white streamers, flower bedecked trellises, and a focal point in the center of the floor of a huge red heart and cupid. Following intermission the judges selected Cherry Gorham and Jay Geest to reign as King and Queen of Hearts.

FBLA Boasts State, National Honors

The National Office Management Association's trophy to the most outstanding chapter in Virginia, placques for ranking first in the state chapter promotion, bulletin board, and scrapbook contests, and a Gold Seal certificate for community service in national competition—all of these were the prized possessions of the Culpeper Chapter of Future Business Leaders of America in 1955-56.

In addition to leading the local group, Fannie Mae Butler was reporter for the Virginia State Chapter, and served on the Executive Board. With the help of the four regional reporters, she gathered the news from the numerous local chapters. Using the news articles from the various chapters, Fannie Mae edited The Leader, the FBLA state paper. Pat Mills served as historian of the Madison Region and compiled the material from the twenty chapters in this region for the state scrapbook.

Since the main project for all chapters of FBLA in Virginia is the promotion of new chapters, "Make FBLA Your Number One Hit Parade Tune" was chosen as theme for the year. This was the theme for the scrapbook, exhibit, and a bulletin board. To promote a stronger local chapter, Fannie Butler, Pat Mills, Joan Backe, Jane Weaver, Teddy Gore, and Ellen Weakley talked to the business students on "The Way of FBLA," and Nancy Jenkins led the members in a discussion of the handbook. These talks were followed by a party for the new members.

In an assembly program with the theme, "If You Could See Yourself as Others See You," Teddy Gore was the teacher and the faculty members portrayed students. The student body grew weak with laughter as Miss Margaret Massey, Mr. Joseph Hafer, Miss Virginia Lewis, Mr. Floyd Binns, Mrs. Howard McCall, Mr. Walter Thomas, Mrs. William Houck, and Mr. Herbert Hash behaved perfectly contrary to the conduct they stress in their own classes. Mrs. Houck also portrayed the typical student at home complaining about too much homework—yet, wasting her time in many romantic thoughts and much mind wandering.

FBLA had two additional sponsors for eight weeks when Miss Emmie Marlowe and Mrs. Gary Shenk, student teachers from Madison College, attended the December and January meetings. A party honored them in the cafeteria on January 30.

Business Emphasis Week, March 12-16, featured bulletin board displays in rooms 7, 9, and 11, a typing contest for beginning and advanced students, and then the highlight—the employer-employee banquet when George Beard spoke on "Office Etiquette." These activities aimed to acquaint the students, teachers, and the people of the community with the Business Department.

A large group attended the Madison Region meeting at Madison College April 14 when Barbara Butler represented the chapter in the spelling contest; she had previously won both the written and oral spelling contest in the local chapter. Teddy Gore and Pat Mills vied for honors as Mr. and Miss FBLA at Harrisonburg, Culpeper winners being chosen by Mr. William Cannon and Mrs. R. M. Willis on the basis of interviews. Jeanne Beahm entered the public speaking contest and represented the chapter in parliamentary law. Entries in other contests were bulletin boards, scrapbook, and exhibit of activities.

The drab familiar cafeteria where students rush when the 12:25 bell sound was the scene of various gatherings and exhibits.

During the holiday season, the bare walls became filled with posters of all types inspired by the gay spirit of the Art Club. Holly, running pine and red and white crepe paper adorned the cafeteria for a dance presented by the Art Club on December 9.

Couples entering the cafeteria for the Y-Club's Christmas Dance were spellbound as they gazed into a maze of fireplace settings, Christmas cards and pine, and Christmas trees brightly lighted up. The entire scene sparkled with the snow and glitter sprinkled on all the decorations.

The FBLA frequented the cafeteria often as they had many socials. Whether it was to welcome the new members, to honor the student teachers or just because they wanted to celebrate, the FBLA enjoyed use of the cafeteria on many occasions.

Gorham, Geest Reign at Cotillion

"Have you seen the scissors?" "Please put a few more flowers on that swing!" "Are you wearing a new dress tonight?" These and similar cries echoed through the gym February 10, the day of the Sweetheart Cotillion. Members of the Y-Teen Club eagerly awaited the day to put into effect their plans so meticulously worked out on paper.

Couples entering the familiar gym were held spellbound as they meandered through a misty, but oh so beautifully decorated gym, "Hearts and Flowers," being the theme of the only formal dance of the year attended by all classes. Red and white crepe paper bedecked with flowers hung from every available rafter.

Waldon Thomas furnished the appropriate music to which Jay Geest and Cherry Gorham danced after having been selected King and Queen of Hearts by the judges. Midway through the memorable evening, members of the Y-Teen Club enjoyed a no-break dance after which the boys presented their dates with a red rose. With the stroke of twelve, contented smiles and aching feet were evidence that another successful Cotillion was over.

Members Gain Recognition in Fairs

The Senior 4-H Club put into practice their motto, "To Make the Best Better." Both senior and junior clubs displayed their achievements and projects at various farm shows during the year and were well justified by their work. The first show to claim their effort was the Culpeper Farm Show held September 3. Some of the members went on to the district and State fairs, getting more recognition as junior farmers and homemakers.

4-H Achievement Day, held on November 12, cited the outstanding work of many youths. Those receiving awards in various fields were John Coates, dairy achievement; Lucille Jones, Jane Brown, Doris Hackley, canning; Marie White, frozen foods; Elizabeth Corbin, electric; Barbara Lipscomb, safety; Joan Moore, dress revue; Lucille Jones, poultry; Peyton Young, meat animal; Elizabeth Feaganes, achievement awards. Ellen Speiden received high citizenship award in the 4-H work.

The 4-H'ers were very fortunate to gain the leadership of Miss Marie Turner, County Home Demonstration Agent, and Mr. Luther Broaddus, III, Assistant County Agent, who came to the county just this year after Miss Elizabeth Farrar, former County Home Demonstration Agent, resigned. They also acquired a new sponsor, Mr. Austin Shepherd, teacher of agriculture shop.

For the first time in the county, Mr. Broaddus organized various clubs for the different phases of club work. The Beef, Dairy, and Pig Clubs were the result of this. Courses in electricity and tractor maintenance were available to those who were interested. Elizabeth Feaganes attended the Rural Electrifi-cation Congress in September held in Richmond.

Several of the students competed in the 4-H area contest held on January 28 at Culpeper High School, in which contestants from eight counties competed. Ellen Speiden entered the food preparation, Joan Moore the dress revue, and Doris Carder the breadmaking contest. This was the sixth time the contest was held in Culpeper. All three girls won first in their respective classes, thus enabling them to compete for district honors.

To observe National 4-H week in March, the clubs presented a radio program over station WCVA on the Farm and Home Hour, posted posters in the halls, and decorated a store window. The group attended church in a body on Rural Life Sunday and the members conducted the entire service including the sermon.

Throughout the year, recreational programs of various types were held. The annual 4-H Talent Show was held during National 4-H week. Members of the Senior 4-H Club and the newly organized Farrar Club went Christmas caroling during Christmas.

The clubs had large representation at the State Short Course at VPI the previous summer, with sixteen boys and girls attending. Here Ellen Speiden and William Jones were chosen All-Stars. This is one of the highest honors in 4-H work. Culpeper delegates also attended Camp Farrar at Virginia Beach and Holiday Lake near Appomattox. Elizabeth Feaganes and Barbara Lipscomb attended the Young Men and Women of America Conference in West Virginia. The two clubs combined this year into the Senior 4-H Club.

FHA Sets Three Big Goals for '56

Choosing three big goals, the Culpeper Chapter of Future Homemakers of America centered its activities around them. These goals were to have every girl an active member, to train officers for leadership responsibility, and to increase the membership. All activities were planned to carry out these goals and the purpose of the organization.

New members, after being taught the meaning of club membership, were guests at an informal supper in November. The old members played hostess with a buffet meal. During the meal some new members told stories as part of their initiation. Later the old members formally initiated the candidates. In the atmosphere of red roses and candlelight the officers pinned a red ribbon on each new member. In the spring the club invited promising homemaking students to join during new member week.

In order to finance their activities the Homemakers served two suppers, one to the Rotary Club, the other to the District N principals. The Rotary Club meal was a roast beef dinner served in the school cafeteria to fifty Rotarians. Served in the Homemaking Department, the principals' dinner featured stuffed pork chops and snow pudding.

Christmas brought a party for pre-school children. Members invited their little brothers, sisters, and friends to a party held in the municipal building December 28. After leading the small guests in games, the girls served gay refreshments. The refreshment table was decorated with snow man place mats and was laden with gelatin pudding and cookies.

The club toured Garfinckels in Washington January 21. They ate lunch in the store's tea room and watched the models pivot. The ideas gleaned from the fashion show were put to use in the assembly the FHA'ers staged April 13. In this program the members and other homemaking students modeled the products of their own sewing.

The faculty and guests enjoyed sandwiches, coffee, and tea in the Homemaking Department Career Day, February 16. This event has become an annual event given by the FHA.

The chapter is a member of the CMO Trio, a federation of Orange, Madison, and Culpeper FHA chapters. Linda O'Neal represented Culpeper as president of the federation while Kathryn Wilson served as reporter. The federation sponsored several recreational affairs, including a box supper held in Madison March 14, a spring rally in Culpeper and a picnic in Orange. The high light of the federation calendar was the spring rally for which Culpeper played hostess. This being FHA's tenth year, the theme of the rally was "Happy Birthday FHA."

Distributors Present "Hep Cats"

Featuring the "Hep Cats" with jazz music the DE Club presented an assembly on Friday, January 13. The DE performers included Harold Painter and Otis Feaganes, who acted as master of ceremonies. The DO Club cooperated with them to put on the assembly. The "Hep Cats" were again the main feature when the clubs together entertained the student body at a dance in the cafeteria on February 4, 1956.

Club members competed in district contests at the district convention held February 15, 1956 at James Monroe High School. Otis Feaganes placed first in his class of sales demonstration judging. For this achievement he received a medal symbolic of achievement on the district level and the right to enter the state contest during the state convention held in Richmond, March 4, 5, 6. Here he won second place in the state. Other members competing at the district convention were Rosie Arrowood, in window display judging, and Billy Mills in merchandise presentation judging. Approximately 110 students and faculty members from Culpeper, James Monroe, Washington-Lee, Wakefield, and Mount Vernon High schools participated in the one-day meet.

DE members and places where they worked were as follows: Elizabeth Feaganes, Rosie Arrowood, Jean Hopkins, and Otis Feaganes, Leggett's; Nancy Martin, Jewel Box; Robert Aylor, A. & P.; Mary Yancey, the Second National Bank; Fulton Lucas, Culpeper Food Store; Harold Painter, George L. Clark's; and Harry Mills, Firestone.

Speakers Benefit Y Members

Starting its second year of activity the Junior Tri-Hi-Y invited various speakers to address the group in their regular meetings, held on the second and fourth Mondays at Activity Period, on such topics as "Good Manners on Dating" and "Good Sportsmanship." Among the speakers were Betty Hundley, a member of the Y-Teen Club, and Mr. Bobby Walker, coach of the football team. These talks benefited the members of the club very much.

In the fall, as a money-making project, the club sold at football games pins with Culpeper High School printed on them. The project proved to be financially successful.

Giving a Christmas pageant for an assembly was the first major activity for the year. In the pageant Grandmother, played by Barbara Meadows, told the Christmas story to her grandchildren, Nancy Troxell and Janet Driskill. Listening also were the two poor children Jennifer Pruett and Claudia Guinn, who had stopped by. Other members acted out the Christmas story. During the same week the club had a bulletin board depicting the traditional shepherd scene. Charlotte Martin, as chairman, and Linda Stein and Ann Clark arranged the display.

Friday, April 13, gave the Junior Y members an opportunity to use "Black Magic" as a theme when they sponsored a dance with music furnished by records. They sold refreshments at the social to boost their finances. Selling cookies once a week in the cafeteria at lunch time also aided the treasury. Liddy Kirkpatrick and Nancy Troxell made a schedule for members to supply cookies for the sale.

The club presented a second assembly Friday, March 16, St. Patrick's Day. At this time a local minister addressed the student body making use of the religious "Three in One" interpretation of the shamrock.

Two pages, Elizabeth Kirkpatrick and Nancy Troxell, represented the Junior Tri-Hi-Y at the Model General Assembly, in Richmond, April 5-7. These pages helped to expedite the workings of the Session. One served as Senate page and one as House page.

FHA members laid down their hammers and scissors and admired their handiwork. "My, it looks like a different place," they exclaimed. Their pride was justified for the living room of the Homemaking Department which they had redecorated was a changed place.

A color scheme of brown and gold warmed the light green walls. The drapes were of a brown print with gold and green accents. The chair was slipcovered in the same fabric. Picking up the gold of the drapes, the couch was covered in a bright harvest yellow with touches of warm brown, in pillows.

An old desk refinished and painted dark green provided further color, as well as an FHA center. All the work was done by FHA members and members of the sixth period home economics class.

While the FHA was playing decorator, the 4-H Club was bowling. The club went bowling as a group several times and met the Madison 4-H bowling team. The boys had great fun laughing at the girls, many of whom had never touched a bowling ball before.

Assemblies Feature Club Activities

Each Friday members of the student body, excluding the seniors, filed one homeroom after another into the auditorium for the weekly assembly program. When they were seated and quiet, the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" filled the auditorium as an introduction for the privileged seniors who marched with dignity down the aisle.

Each club had an opportunity to present an assembly, whether it was humorous, educational, or in celebration of a holiday. The Distributive Education Club presented an interesting program with Otis Feaganes as master of ceremonies. At this assembly, the "Hep Cats" performed for the first time for the student body. Frederic Brault, John Hunt, Harold Painter, LeRoy Baumgardner, and Robert Grimsley formed this popular music quintet.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y was in charge of the Christmas assembly. In this the members depicted the non-appreciation of some children at the gay festive season, while less fortunate boys and girls marveled at insignificant gifts.

Lipscomb Heads Six-School Federation

“Learning To Do
Doing To Learn
Earning To Live
Living To Serve.”

Following this motto kept the FFA Chapter busy both in local work and state and federation activities. The first meeting of the George Washington Federation of the FFA composed of chapters from six schools, namely Culpeper, Caroline, Spotsylvania, Stafford, King George, and C. T. Smith High Schools, was held in October. At this meeting the federation officers were elected and the year's program of work was planned. Robert Lipscomb was elected president.

20-24, 1955, at VPI. These members participated in dairy and shop judging, and public speaking contests. Also Wayne participated in the State FFA chorus while Robert and Billy were representatives in the official business meeting. Robert took second place in the speaking contest, winning $20.

As a new school year began the chapter met and reorganized. The members worked out the details of their program of work for the year. This program consisted of the many activities that were carried out during the year.

One of the first projects of the year was the Forestry Judging Contest, drawing contestants from all six schools of the Federation. Members of the Culpeper chapter were Wayne Smith, Randy Settle, and Billy Singleton, who placed fifth as a team.

The Federation tractor driving contest took place at Fredericksburg November 27, 1955, and Culpeper sent three boys to take part in this, Robert Lipscomb, Gene Timmons, and Lewis Clatterbuck.

A dairy team of Billy Singleton, Wayne Smith, Robert Lipscomb, and Harry Carpenter took first place, bringing back a plaque from Spotsylvania May 25, 1955.

The Federation Shop and Crops Judging Contests were held December 15, 1955, at Culpeper High School agriculture shop. The Culpeper team placed first in the shop judging and third in crops. Wayne Smith was busy judging shop while Billy Singleton, Randy Settle, Robert Lipscomb and Harry Carpenter were doing crop judging. Wayne Smith also won a plaque by placing first in shop. Robert won a public speaking medal.

The chapter held a night meeting for initiation of new members, who were awarded the Green Hand Degree. Green Hand is significant of the rookie rank. Other degrees which may be won are Chapter Farmer, State Farmer, and American Farmer.

The FFA had charge of the assembly program January 27. Randy Settle and Morris Peters starred as the mule while Herbert Hash gave the reading. Howell Ferneyhough was the comedian.

A second very important date for FFA boys was February 22, when the George Washington Federation had the annual banquet at Stafford. Awards were made to the different chapter winners of contests held during the year. Robert Lipscomb received the medal which he won April, 1955. Also brought back were the shop and dairy plaques for the chapter when Wayne, a one-man team in shop contest, had won and the four-boy dairy judging team was victorious.

Still another important date was the chapter banquet held in the spring. Medals were given for achievement during the year in the different phases of FFA work. One of the major projects of the chapter this year was the farm safety program in which members tried to impress on the community the importance of safety. The chapter assembled a scrapbook, consisting of a record of the different enterprises and achievements of the members as well as the activities and achievements of the chapter.

Scientists Study, Report on Interests

Seated: W. Browning—president, M. Crews—vice president, M. Clatterbuck—secretary, J. Kinzer—treasurer, Mr. B. Walker—adviser. Second row: M. Nelson, M.

Newman—Reporter, R. Hawkins, J. Korte. Third row: B. Miller, J. Frazier, K. Dobyns, E. Gore.

Meeting, disbanding, and reorganizing characterized the first fall activity of the future scientists. Although the club was delayed in being completely organized, once begun the scientists proved quite active under their new adviser, Mr. B. Walker. One resulting change was the bringing in of new members from the ninth grade to join the upperclassmen.

At the monthly meetings, after transacting the necessary business, the members selected a subject for study. Each member gathered information on the topic of their choice to present to the club. By doing this, each club member benefited by securing information on their particular project and also by learning of their fellow scientists' findings. Each member completed two scientific projects or demonstrations by the end of the year. These included the following: William Browning, Physics—Cartesian Diver; Merrill Crews and Marshall Clatterbuck, Chemistry—Bases and Acids; Rebecca Hawkins, Alcoholic Beverages; Marylee Newman and Judy Kinzer, Embalming; Kenneth Dobyns, Photography. The club enjoyed these programs very much.

The Science Club entered a float in the Home-Coming parade showing two scientists concocting a formula powerful enough "To Blow Monroe Up," as the legend asserted. They sponsored a beautification program which added to the attractiveness of the grounds of Culpeper High by the use of flowers and shrubbery.

Dues and money raised by selling cookies in the cafeteria financed the club's activities. Although the Science Club did not sponsor a fair, they started plans to sponsor one next year.

William Browning held the group in awe as he demonstrated his cartesian diver. This was composed of a glass container partly filled with water and submerged in an inverted position in a larger vessel of water. Over this there was a rubber diagram which could be moved in an upward or downward position. This changed the pressure on the surface of the water causing the inverted container to either rise or sink.

In the project on bases and acids given by Merrill Crews and Marshall Clatterbuck, the class learned the way acids and bases read on indicators, litmus paper, and phenolphthalein. The boys made an acid and a base and explained how neutralization occurs. The club also learned the difference between a strong and concentrated solution.

Two of the three feminine members, Judy Kinzer and Marylee Newman, presented an interesting embalming demonstration while Rebecca Hawkins gave the scientists informative data about alcoholic beverages.

Kenneth Dobyns in his photography project explained the composition of photography, how flashbulbs are made, the proper way to take pictures including distance, lighting and film.

Glee Club Features Frosty, the Snowman

Presenting an informal assembly December 2, the Glee Club made its first appearance for the year. Included in the selections was "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" which featured Freddy Brault on the guitar. In conclusion to this program members of the group portrayed Christmas card scenes and sang carols to fit the particular card. Included in the scenes portrayed were "Silent Night," and "Frosty, the Snowman." The Glee Club made their own props for their program. Also they decorated a very elaborate float for the Home-Coming Queen and her court in the Home-Coming Parade. Linda Guinn supervised all the art work.

During the year the club made a brief study of solfeggio which means singing by syllables. This aided in sight-reading music. The club boasted 16 boys among their 49 members. This was the largest group of boys since the Glee Club became a class in 1952. Due to the increase of male voices the group got better harmony.

The chorus took part in the Christmas Concert and among their selections they rendered "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer," "Lamb of God, Chorale 1540," and "I Wonder as I Wander" with Judy Myers as soprano soloist. The group dressed informally for this program in white blouses and black skirts for the girls and white shirts and black trousers for the boys.

The group was excused from school the afternoon of January 25 to take part in the third annual Farmers' Cooperative Association meeting where they entertained the group. The songs which the group presented included "He," "I Heard a Forest Praying," "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," and "Lamb of God Chorale 1540."

Due to unforeseen circumstances the Glee Club was unable to journey to Lane High School, Charlottesville, to participate in the District Choral Music Festival where they are judged by a rating of excellence. This is an annual festival and one the group looks forward to with enthusiasm each year.

The choristers presented another assembly in May when they inspired the student body with lovely renditions of "Autumn Leaves," "Lord, for Thy Tender Mercy's Sake," and "There is a Balm in Gilead." "How Old are You?" and "Set Down Servant" were among the novelty selections of the program.

For the first time the music department of Culpeper County presented a program for the Parent-Teacher Association. This was entitled "Reflections of a Musical Mirror" in which all the music groups, both elementary and high schools took part. The object was to present to the audience approximately twelve years of the lives of the typical student now enrolled in school or to relive twelve years of the past of the lives of parents who may have participated in such a program.

As the master of ceremonies looked into the mirror in the beginning stage he saw not his own reflections, but that of an elementary student first starting along the journey of music. Along with the development of each of the musical groups that reflection in the mirror was growing.

After several of the elementary vocal groups performed the final stage of development and advancement were shown by the participants of the Glee Club.

Climaxing their year, the Glee Club rendered selections at the Baccalaureate Sermon and Graduation Exercises.

Thespians Successful Despite Difficulties

"Somebody prompt him" cried a member of the Dramatic Club as he watched a fellow member flub his lines. This happened frequently during rehearsals, but by some miracles the play went off smoothly. The apprehensive actors felt their performances were a success, assured of this by amateur critics. Although the amateurs did not take in large sums, they learned the principles of acting which were invaluable to them. After much hard work the members were sure that in the near future their names would be in lights on the marquee of a well-known theatre.

Projects of the Science Club varied from the effect of air pressure on the relative weight of an object to embalming. They rediscovered the fact that dry ice was so cold that it was hot as it burned their fingers on the Science Club float. Many of the members carried on their projects in science classes, as well as in the club.

Clubs Meet During Activity Period

All clubs not meeting on class time held meetings during activity period, a 30-minute period immediately following lunch and preceding the beginning of afternoon classes. Each club had a particular date given them for meeting, some clubs meeting bi-monthly, others only monthly. The cafeteria and various empty classrooms were the scenes for the organizational meetings.

For those students having no meeting or no study hall, the library was open during activity period. During this time the Library Club members served in the library checking out books and signing permits. Members of the Library Club worked all six periods of the day in the library in addition to the activity period.

The Diversified Occupation Club was one of the very few class clubs at CHS meeting during class periods. The DO members left school after lunch to work at their respective jobs putting into practice the ideas learned during class periods.

Junior Choraliers Look to New Rooms

J. Kinzer, left, points out to Mr. W. Thomas, location of new music room in the building being built. M.

Grimsley, right, demonstrates her skill of phonetics to the group.

Competing with the rhythmic but noisy thump, thump of the dish washers, and looking forward to singing in the new music rooms whose construction was begun in January, the Junior Glee Club sang every Thursday in the cafeteria. The 35-member organization, composed of eighth and ninth graders, was the only music organization which did not meet during a regular class session.

On the first day of enrollment approximately 75 of the Junior Choraliers were on hand to get underway with the study of some standard musical literature and chorale technics. After the election of officers and some rigid attendance standards were placed upon the members, many of the less interested students fell by the wayside.

Since the group met only once a week during a 30-minute period and there were so many varied activities being carried on, it seemed impossible for the group to maintain a balanced vocal section. It was because of this lack of balance that the Junior Glee Club served more as a Work Shop group than as a performing organization.

This year one of the highlights was a brief study of solfeggio—mainly to acquaint the students with the work, which literally means singing by syllables.

The class sang a few simple songs by using syllables in order that they might correlate the mental process that must go along with the vocal problem. Another phase of study undertaken was that of phonetics. The group made a study of some of the Glee Club's repertoire to broaden the growth of its members and to familiarize them with music they would be seeing in the future.

Library Club Sponsors Sock-Hop

Sponsoring a sock-hop for the entire student body was the Library Club's biggest project. Students wearing slacks, bermudas, dungarees, and skirts crowded the cafeteria which had been decorated with green and white streamers and book covers. A silver offering financed the dance. Old-timers recalled that the Library Club gave the first sock-hop, now so popular as teen-age entertainment, February, 1946. Dickie Robson, chairman of the social committee, named dance committees and supervised the promotion of the dance.

Helping with library work, advertising the resources of the library, and encouraging reading are the purposes of the Library Club. The 41 members of the Library Club signed permits, circulated books, and made ready new books and magazines for the shelves. Each member worked at least 60 hours during the year.

Keeping the library attractive was one of the club's aims. A Library Bulletin Board Committee headed by Betty Butler changed the bulletin board in the library monthly. They attempted to keep the theme of each display seasonal. Paula Hawkins, Connie White, Barbara Butler, and Winnie Shaw served on the committee.

In the Home-Coming Parade the Library Club sponsored a float the theme of which was, "It's in the Book—A Devil Victory." About 15 members of the Library Club rode this float. Louise Yowell headed the float committee consisting of Robert Myers, Christine Haught, Joyce Burke, Naomi Cave, Betsy Feaganes, Bruce Aylor, and Earl Tanner.

The Library Club celebrated Book Week by giving an assembly program entitled, "Out of Library Books." As vice president and program committee chairman, Marian White directed the program. In this skit members of the Library Club impersonated characters of books and briefly gave the idea of the book. Club members also decorated the hall bulletin board for this week.

The program committee presented programs at almost all of the Library Club meetings, and occasionally showed a film strip. All programs aimed to instruct members so that they might better serve the boys and girls who came to the library. At the meeting before Christmas the social committee served refreshments.

The last activity sponsored by the Library Club was a picnic given late in May for club members and their guests. The picnic has become an annual event of the Library Club.

Businesses Beckon to DO Students

Comprised of five juniors and five seniors the Diversified Occupations Club attended school all day or half a day and worked in the afternoon at various business establishments in town. The members and the places where they worked were as follows: Ralph Atkins, Triplett Milling Company; Julian Aylor, State Highway Department; Douglas Bayne, Norris Meat Market; John Cook, Farmers Cooperative; Russell Jones, Piedmont Chevrolet Company; James Graver, Main Street Texaco Station; John Hunt, Kibler's Garage; George Stover, A. W. Mitchells; LeRoy Baumgardner; and James Bache.

Members of the club constructed a huge James Monroe head with a black eye for their Home-Coming Float. The float depicted James Monroe as down and out.

The high light of the DO year was the annual state convention held at Hotel Roanoke, Roanoke, Virginia, March 26-27. James Bache, John Hunt, Russell Jones, Douglas Bayne, and LeRoy Baumgardner attended the convention. James entered a poster depicting the ideas of the organization in the poster contest while John entered the spelling contest.

Cooperating with the Distributors Club, the DO Club formed the "Hep Cats." John Hunt and LeRoy Baumgardner represented the DO in this group of four musicians. The "Cats" played for an assembly and the DE-DO Dance February 4, as well as some out-of-school activities. The assembly gave advance notice of the dance playing up the "Cats" in the advertising.

The club presented another assembly April 6. The program was a combination of entertainment and information about the organization.

Any sixteen-year-old junior or senior taking the DO class could belong to the club the purpose of which was to provide activities for the class members. Membership was voluntary. The club was organized on a state basis and is divided into districts. The Culpeper club was a member of District Three which was composed of Culpeper, Orange, and Fredericksburg.

The DO class which met first period everyday under the direction of Mr. Shirley Broyles provided cooperating work training between school and business. In the first part of the year the class studied problems common to all, such as labor laws and employer-employee relations. During the rest of the year each class member studied about his particular job and ways to improve his work.

Dramatists Present "Strictly Formal"

A lively and colorful dance in the Cafeteria, November 9, started the year out for the Dramatic Club. While the students danced midst pink and charcoal decorations and ate refreshments, the club was busy counting the money which had been taken at the door.

The club presented "Strictly Formal", November 22, as the annual three-act play. The plot centered around the turmoil and schemes of a group of teen-age girls to secure dates for the Junior-Senior Prom, regardless of the blonde "Bombshell" who arrived for a vacation at the time of the dance.

Mary Peters played the role of Jane; Ann Rawlings, Cindy; Martha Haverstock, Sally; Cherry Gorham, Jane's mother; Bunny Vernon, Rose; Sue Guinn, Rose's mother; Rod Regan, Jane's father; Randy Aylor, George; Sheldon Marvin, Jim; Alice Dodson, Marcia; Gen Edwards, Marilyn; Billy Eggert, Mr. Ahern; Lewis Nelson, Elroy; Terry Botts, Josie; Barbara Lipscomb, Agnes; and Jay Geest, Lieutenant Bob Cunningham.

The downfall of Fredericksburg was depicted as the comedy of the century on the float which represented the club in the Home-Coming Parade. Ann Rawlings was the club's candidate for Home-Coming Queen.

Plans were made to present another dance to the student body in the spring. At the assembly on March 2 the club presented a one-act play which was taken to the Dramatic Festival in Fredericksburg the following day. The play, "A New England Nun", was the story of Louisa, a typical old maid, who waited for her lover, Joe, to return from Australia where he had gone to seek his fortune. After a period of 14 years, they planned to be married.

In the meantime Louisa had become so set in her ways she did not want to leave her home and go to Australia; nor did she know how to tell Joe that she no longer loved him. Joe felt that he no longer loved Louisa but was determined to marry her because she had waited so long for him. He had fallen in love with her niece, Lily. Louisa heard Joe tell Lily that he loved her so she released him to marry Lily.

With the warm spring days of May came the Junior-Senior Prom. This festive event was anticipated for years by the upperclassmen. With the help of Miss Laura Thornhill the Juniors started planning months ahead to make the dance a success. Crepe paper, balloons and lots of bright spring flowers completely transformed the gymnasium. Upon passing through a small gate, overgrown with ivy, the couples suddenly found themselves in an "Enchanted Garden." In the midst of this maze of flowers and misty gowns stood a small bridge which crossed a colorfully lighted brook. This served as a background for many pictures. Here in the mysterious garden couples danced to the music of Charles Hancher, playing at CHS for the first time. Delicious refreshments were served at intermission. The juniors recognized Miss Thornhill and showed their gratitude for her assistance in making the 1956 Prom a big success and a lasting memory in the heart of every senior.

With Mixed Emotions, Seniors Depart

The long-awaited time was here—graduation, and with mixed emotions, the Seniors marched slowly down the aisle for the last time to the familiar “Pomp and Circumstance.” How many times they had practiced walking with precisely the right step! As the distance to the front of the auditorium grew shorter, the thoughts of the Seniors quickened as they recalled the activities commemorating this occasion.

Class Day had allowed only the privileged seniors to walk through the front entrance. At the assembly they had heard the class history and the prophecy. They had left their final bequeaths to other students. Receiving their last edition of the COLONNADE, the Seniors, arrayed in white dresses and suits, wrote farewell messages to their friends. They recalled also the Baccalaureate Sermon which they would remember as being given to guide them through life.

Crippled by a small and inexperienced squad, the 1955 baseball team won two games and lost nine. Only four lettermen, John James, Charlie Chilton, Jimmy Weakley, and Joe Korte, returned to the team from the 1954 squad.

Joe Korte, Jim Lamphier, and Jerry Haught provided fine pitching, allowing an average of only five hits per game. Due to errors and weak hitting the team was unable to capitalize on it.

One of the tense moments of the season came in the April 28 Albemarle game when the Culpeper men were ahead one run. Two Albemarle men were out when the last man got a hit and bringing in two runs, raised the score to 5, thus defeating Culpeper 5-4.

In many games the team seemed to be on the road to victory when errors ruined their chances. Several of the larger scores were results of these errors in the late innings. For example, against Manassas both teams got three hits. The Culpeper men made six errors, causing the defeat, 6-0.

John James claimed the highest batting average with a .375 record. Close behind him was Harry Carpenter with .352 and Jimmy Weakley with .333. Batting honor winner of 1954, Charlie Chilton, followed with a .300. Charlie stole home three times during the year, an unusual achievement.

Although errors and poor hitting set the team back in the 1955 season, the experience gained should prove valuable in the 1956 season.

Devilettes Set Record of 37 Wins

Playing ten triumphant games, the Culpeper High School Softball Devilettes set a new record of 37 consecutive games during the 1955 season. Since this winning streak extended over a period of four and a half years, the team members who graduated in 1955 had played their four years of ball without a loss to mar their record. The winning streak established a new record for consecutive wins. The former record was 35 wins. The last defeat occurred in 1951 when Falmouth downed the Devilettes 18 to 8 and 7 to 6.

Co-Captains Winnie Brown and Frances Kibler led an unusually large squad of 24 members. Eleven members of the 1954 season returned, joined by thirteen rookies. Graduation robbed the 1955 team of seven members.

This large team chalked a total 224 runs while their opponents could only score 16. Three teams remained runless while the Devilettes rolled over them with huge scores. This brought the number of teams held scoreless during the winning streak up to six.

Homerun champion Winnie Brown set a new home record with 11 homers. Frances Kibler hit four homeruns to claim second place. Winnie also led the team record of triples with two. She and Frances tied for doubles with four each.

In the walks department Barbara Dulin drew five while Winnie Brown received four. Frances Kibler and Jacqueline Bragg had three each.

The 1955 schedule was the heaviest carried by the Devilettes since 1952. Heretofore teams had shown a reluctance to meet the victory-laden team. Although the 1955 season was heavier by four than the 1954 season, of the 1954 opponents only Stanardsville returned to face the Devilettes.

David Coates Wins National Honors

The CHS Blue Devils' 1955 track team ended their second consecutive year undefeated in regular season meets, and boasted of two of the state's outstanding performers. Topped by big David Coates, the Devils participated in the Atlantic Coast Conference indoor meet. David broke records at the Duke Durham relays, the Alexandria relays, the District 2 and State Meet and the Junior AAU Richmond Invitational. Also David set a new record in the senior AAU that included

Spring Ends '55 Sports Season

Spring was in the air and the 1955 CHS spring's sports season was in full swing. All three teams agreed that no season of the year is quite so conducive to practice as spring.

As the girls' softball team worked out daily, one could see Coach Floyd Binns pitching to the girls, or having them pick up a grounder. Continuing over a period of four years, the girls established a record of 37 wins.

From the softball diamond the girls could glance over and view the boys' baseball team striving to improve their game also. Although the Devils did not set a record such as the lassies, the boys showed spirit throughout the season and were in the game until the last man was out.

Track meets were a favorite spring afternoon entertainment for the students as many a car journeyed to Woodberry to watch CHS star in track and field events. The track meets were altogether different from other sporting events as the activities were varied including running, broad jumping, high jumping, discus throwing and hurdling.

"C" Wearers Again on Club Roster

Reorganized this year under the direction of Coach Bobby Walker, the Senior Monogram Club consisted of boys who had earned a varsity letter in any sport. After a lapse in organization for more than a year, the club reorganized after football season closed and since that time spent a great deal of the club's time in rewriting and improving the constitution.

January 24 the thrilling and amusing Faculty-Monogram Club basketball game gave members who were not on the regular squad a chance to show their basketball know-how. The professors triumphed over the "C" wearers, 57 to 27, this being the fourth consecutive victory for the Faculty.

Reorganized with a total of 32 members and increasing its membership to approximately 50 members by the close of the school year with the initiation of new letter winners in football, basketball, track and baseball, the club staged a come-back that proved their eligibility to a place among the school's activity program.

The club sponsored a school dance during the year and all the revenue collected from dues and other sources was used to help defray the cost of the big athletic dinner at the end of school which was highlighted by the presentation of awards, letters, and a dance.

The Monogram Club also was in charge of the Home-Coming parade, their job being to get the floats lined up correctly and to decorate the cars which carried the football team, Class of 1920, and the officers of the Alumni Association.

Devils Lick Chester for Group Upset

Acclaimed the biggest upset in District II, the Culpeper victory was the first game Chester had lost in two years. John Amos picked up a blocked punt and streaked for the winning touchdown to give the fans their greatest thrill of the evening. A loss to Manassas, 19-13, came after a thrilling game which saw Culpeper come back from a 19-0 score at the half to score two quick touchdowns and playing on the Manassas five-yard line when the game ended. Douglas Weakley's pile-driving over for extra point clinched the first game of the season as a victory over Albemarle. In the Fredericksburg game Culpeper played some fine football only to lose the game in the last four minutes. The Devils wound up their 1955 season by downing two of their arch-rivals, Madison and Warrenton. Twenty-six boys started the season and the end found 29, counting three Jayvee players moved up showing that the boys on the team loved football. Those moving up were G. Ferneyhough, J. Bazzle, and P. Gurganus. Culpeper put on the field one of the better defensive teams in District II this year with a line averaging 185 pounds. The Devils lost five ball games by a total of six points on the season's scoring.

Douglas Weakley with four touchdowns and one extra point was the team's high scorer followed closely by J. Amos with 24 points. Teddy Gore and George Morris each with 6 points vied for third-place honor. Kyle Haverstock and William Cropp, two of the team's smaller boys, added 3 points and 1 point respectively to the scoring column.

"Rinkeydinks" Play Undefeated Season

The 1955 football Rinkeydinks finished their first undefeated season in the school's history. The Dinks were tied in their first two contests by Albemarle and Osborne but came back to beat both teams by large scores.

Elmer Haynes, a speedy halfback, led the scoring for the little Devils but had a lot of help from the entire backfield. Pat Gurganus was one of the better Junior Varsity quarterbacks, and eighth grader Tom Haught was a standout at fullback. The big surprise of the year was the running and passing of Howell Ferneyhough, a transfer from Albemarle. Howell threw to his 6-2 brother Garland to keep the opposition always on their toes.

The line was anchored by Charles Hedrick, an eighth grader at center; Jim Arnold and Jim Bazzle, freshmen, were the guards; and Mac Holman and Vic Taylor were tackles. Jesse Jenkins and Preston Carder were the defensive ends, and Billy White, Garland Ferneyhough, and Douglas Smoot were pass catchers. Jack Bruce, a diminutive eighth grader, and Beverly Bradshaw both backed the line of the defensive units.

Weakley, No. 61, lower right, and Amos, No. 65, throw block for Robson, No. 60, as Manassas' Hicks, No. 79, and Marsh, No. 61, make tackle.

To the ardent football fan, football season is the time for donning one's warmest clothes and entering the frosty night to enjoy a game. To the players, however, many weeks of concentrated practice preceded opening night. Hot summer days and bitter cold nights alike found the gridiron Devils on the field either practicing or playing.

The Blue Devils put much time into the game. The bustly nights, the thrill of the opening kick-off, the tenseness in the air as a touchdown is made—all this is reason enough for boys to put themselves wholeheartedly into the game.

After the game was over, the boys were honored at many and various activities. Following the Albemarle game, a local snack bar set them up to hamburgers, steaks, and shakes. After the Chester game, the boys indulged in a steak supper at a local restaurant. Needless to say, the boys devoured them and other such appetite-appealing honors with great enthusiasm.

"Dinks" Direct Traffic at Games

"This way" waved members of the Junior Monogram Club, more commonly referred to as the "Rinkydinks," as brandishing flashlights and pointing direction they became a familiar sight directing traffic at the entrance of the football stadium at each home game.

During the football season a sizable job was taken from the shoulders of the head of the Athletic Department by the service performed by the Dinks parking cars, serving as ushers, walking fences, selling programs, collecting tickets and performing other incidental duties.

Other major activities included two dances with the whole student body as guests, the traditional four "Blue Devils" in the Home-Coming parade and challenging the Girls' Monogram Club to a race on the sidewalk of Culpeper on a Saturday in January to collect donations for the March of Dimes. When the girls failed to show up for the race, Tommy Haught and John Pruett recruited some members including Donald Printz, Patrick Gurganus, Malcolm Holman, George Aylor, William Jenkins, John Korte, Frederic Brault, and Charles Hedrick and collected $84.75.

The "Rinks" gave their first dance as a "Back to School" affair on Saturday, January 7, to get the students back into the swing of things after their Christmas vacation. Records furnished the music. The Easter dance held in April presented a dance band and colorful decorations delighting the student body and demanding the greatest activity for the Junior Monogram Club.

On Awards Day, the Junior Monogram Club presented for the fourth time a trophy to the outstanding Junior Varsity Athlete of the year. Billy Jenkins, an eighth grade student, was the proud receiver of this trophy in 1955.

For the first time the Junior Monogram Club and Monogram Club gave a dinner at the end of the year for the athletes. "C" winners claimed their awards at this dinner instead of at the awards assembly as had been the custom in previous years. Everyone on the Jayvee and Varsity squads who had earned a letter attended. Outstanding athletes received medals.

G. Ferneyhough, left, No. 3, reaches for ball from Pyne of Albemarle, No. 16. Korte, No. 4, is behind Payne, as Gurganus, No. 43, and Buck of Albemarle meet Aylor, No. 10, coming up. Morris, center, No. 44, attempts to steal ball from Pyne of Albemarle, No. 16, as two from Albemarle, Buck and Abell, are seen in background. Culpeper's Morris, right, No. 44, and Pyne, No. 16, and Abell, No. 13, of Albemarle watch G. Ferneyhough make shot as H. Ferneyhough looks on, too.

Ferneyhough Brothers Spark JV Cagers

The Rinkydink Cagers finished their season with a 6-7 record, failing to play Louisa because of inclement weather. The season got off to a slow start with the Culpeper players losing five games consecutively. Then the team picked up speed with the addition of the Ferneyhough brothers. Culpeper's luck seemed to change in the King George game when the players triumphed 41-29. The luck held while Culpeper rolled over Albemarle 16-30. Later in the season Culpeper again met Albemarle. This time the ball rolled the other way and the opponents emerged victorious.

The high light of the season was the repetition of a game played with James Monroe two years ago in which the "Dinks" emerged victorious. This year James Monroe emerged the victor. After a 40 to 17 loss in the beginning of the season, the inspired "Dinks" played good ball but lost in a double overtime, sudden death, to the Jackets by a score of 37 to 36.

Front row: Mr. H. Sturgeon—coach, W. Jenkins, H. Haught, W. Fallin, G. Aylor, J. Bazzle, C. Hedrick, J. Korte, D. Payne—manager. Second row: J. Jenkins, Others followed in this order: George Morris, 46; George Aylor, 46; Billy Jenkins, 27; Patrick Gurganus, 18; Charlie Hedrick, 16; Jesse Jenkins, 16; Jacob Haught, 3; Joe Frazier, 2; and Gregory Smith, 2.

Edwin Gaines, leading the Culpeper Blue Devils to a winning basketball season with a record of 8-7, also won top scoring and rebound honors. Scoring a total of 174 of the team's 781 points, Gaines lead the individual scoring column. Jay Geest and Joseph Korte followed with 168 and 151 points, respectively. A controlling factor in the strength of the Devils was the rebounding of Gaines and William Jones. Gaines set a record in the Spotsylvania clash by retrieving a total of 43 rebounds. Jones lead the team on field goal percentage by making 37% of the shots attempted.

The Devils were a hot and cold ball club. Five of the seven games lost were lost by a total of eleven points, one game being lost by one point, two by two points, and two by three points.

In the first game with Orange, the Devils led during the entire contest only to be beaten by a last second desperation shot. Again in the home game with Albemarle the Devils were beaten by a last minute field goal. The Madison contest found the Devils cold on field goal attempts, thus losing by two points. This made a total of three very important District II games lost by final points.

Five members of the 1956 Devil Basketeers will be lost to graduation—Gaines, John Amos, Korte, Roger Tinsley, and Jones.

Practice, Motto of Basketball Boys

Gaines, upper left, shields ball from Lee of Warrenton, No. 88, after rebound. Tinsley, No. 35, Weakley, No. 34, for Culpeper, and Fell of Warrenton, No. 99, move in. Weakley, No. 54, upper right, makes jump shot while Shifflett of Elkton, No. 18, guards, and Lam of Elkton,

No. 14, comes up. Jones, lower left, goes up for rebound as Geest, No. 43, and Gouldthorpe of Warriors, No. 22, come in. Gaines, No. 53, and Haley of Warrenton, No. 77, are coming up. Geest set shots, lower right, as Graves, No. 11 of Elkton and Korte, No. 4, watch.

"Practice today at 3:30 or 5:00?" was the familiar cry of the CHS Devils as they filed into the locker room. The boys practiced in the gym, alternating with the girls, each using the gym every other day. On the days the girls practiced early, the squads worked out after the girls completed practice, showing their determination to produce a winning team.

Both teams showed much improvement as the season progressed. Coach Harry Sturgeon chose his Jayvee squad from 43 boys who reported for practice opening day. Practice being the motto of both teams, they strove after each game to improve their techniques and fundamentals.

Although being a cager required a lot of hard work and concentration, the boys enjoyed the bus trips, engaging in the conversation shared by the players only. Whether each player attained his particular goal is unknown, but each boy wearing the Devil uniform strove to prove himself worthy of the honor.

Monogram Girls Down Faculty Cagers

“Me, play basketball?” This was the usual response of a teacher when Jacquelin Bragg asked her to participate in the annual Faculty-Monogram encounter. The ladies proved they were good sports, however, and gave the “C” wearers a chase.

Assisting Mr. Floyd Binns to again run the school store accounted for the greatest number of hours of work for several girls of the Monogram Club. The store sold candy, drinks, ice cream, and school supplies before school and at lunch time every day, and it was also open during the fifteen-minute breaks given the students after the two-period mid-term exams. One-third of the profits from the store went to the Girls’ Athletic Association to be used to help finance the letters, equipment, and uniforms bought for the girls’ Athletic Department.

Monogram girls having fourth period study hall ate lunch early every day to open the store for the rush of students as they crowded in line awaiting drinks, ice cream sandwiches, and drumsticks. Jacquelin Bragg, Kathleen Harlow, Doris Carder, and Elizabeth Corbin were in charge of opening the store every day. Mary Thompson, Naomi Cave, and Marian White relieved these girls at 12:45.

The Girls’ Monogram Club was composed of those girls who have made a varsity letter in either basketball, softball, or cheerleading.

However, the girls also must have engaged in the initiation before they could become a full member.

For the third year the initiation exercise was a main event. New members appeared at school on the appointed day dressed in outfits designed by the old members. Old members designated to new members varied and difficult tasks featuring brief tortures and mild embarrassment.

The girls entered a float in the Home-Coming Parade consisting of a convertible which they decorated with blue and gold streamers. A large banner of identity was on both sides of the car. This car took all members who wished to ride in the parade. Participants wore cheering, basketball, and softball uniforms showing the different sports in which the girls participated.

Another feature of the year was an “After Easter Dance” held in the cafeteria for the student body. Members of the club sold candy, cookies, and cake at lunch time to help finance the dance.

The club drew a new adviser in Mrs. Gary Waugh, director of the Girls’ Physical Education Department, coach of the Girls’ Varsity Basketball Team, and adviser to the cheerleaders. The girls stressed sportsmanship and clean play and strove to be the best of sports at all games no matter whether losing or winning.

Devilettes Win 8, Lose 3

With four veterans, eight players coming from the Jayvee team, and one transfer, the Varsity Devilettes began practice early in November. These twelve members had as managers Barbara Lipscomb and Naomi Cave and a new coach in Mrs. Gary Waugh, the new instructor in physical education.

From beginning day of practice, the girls worked very hard at fundamentals, practicing every shot and play many times, their goal being perfection.

The Varsity Devilettes were one of the better dressed teams in this area, being clad in navy blue gabardine uniforms with gold trimmings. The veterans also wore their matching whicord warm-up jacket with their name on the front. Rookies to the Varsity team were given the opportunity to wear one of the school's jackets which made the team perfectly dressed. Each warm-up jacket bore the word Devilette on the back.

The Devilettes opened their season with Warrenton as their first opponent. This was the only time that the Devilettes played on the schedule with the Varsity Devils, both Jayvee squads being idle.

Led by Senior Mary Thompson and Junior Virginia Parker, the Devilettes enjoyed a very good season. Thompson paced the Devilettes with 168 points in ten games. Parker was runner-up with 104 points for eleven games. Following these closely was Winnie Shaw with 92 points for eleven games. This was her first year on Varsity and Winnie Shaw came to be known for her surprise long shots. It was the first year on the team for Jane Brown who chalked up 31 points in eleven encounters and Geraldine Curtis who added 13 points to the team's scoring column. Jacquelyn Bragg was proud to have added 2 points to the total points, being an outstanding guard.

As in every sports encounter, the defense players were vital to the success of the team. Guards Jackie Bragg, Ann Clatterbuck, Joan Moore, and Ellen Walker proved themselves invaluable to the team. Kathleen Harlow, Rosalie Baber, and Louise Garris also held down guard positions. Switching constantly between the zone and man-to-man type play, the defense Devilettes were always a jump ahead of their opponents.

One of the noteworthy aspects of the season was the comeback during the Front Royal contests. In their second game of the season, the Devilettes gave away to their arch rivals by three points. Later in the season, and on their home court, the lassies defeated the same team by 15 points.

Baby Devilettes Finish with 9-1 Record

Having but one score to mar their record the Baby Devilettes finished their season with a 9-1 record. The team consisted almost solely of veterans, as there were but three newcomers to the squad.

The one defeat was a surprise to the entire team in that with the final whistle, the Culpeper girls thought they had won, but due to a walking penalty, the final two points dropped through the basket did not count. The Baby Devilettes however came back to defeat the same strong Warren County team 50-26.

The Jayvee Girls won two victories that their big sisters were unable to achieve. In both encounters, the Orange Jayvee lassies were overcome by the Culpeper Jayvees, while the Orange Varsity were victorious.

Claiming top honor in the scoring column was Adrienne Hall with 124 points. Following closely behind was Marion White with 97 points. Gloria Curtis and Erma Garr racked up 48 points each making their contributions to the scoring column. Gen Edwards, an exceptionally fast moving player, also dropped in 22 points. Barbara Landis, showing much improvement throughout the season, connected for 22 points. Linda Sudduth, playing both the guard and forward position, made 11 points.

The success of the season was not due altogether to the fine shooting of the forwards. The tight game defense played by all guards had a major part in the final analysis. Guards Linda Sudduth, Paula Hawkins, Joyce Printz, and Rebecca Hawkins played outstanding ball on defense. Jean Fincham and Jackie Clatterbuck, the most improved members of the team, showed great progress in the guard position as the season advanced. Petite Margaret Baber who was quite aggressive for a little girl, and Donna Stevens rounded out the guards. Barbara Benton and Joan Groves were available only part of the season.

Outnumbering their opponents 387-224 was proof that cooperation between the forwards' shooting and the guards' keeping the opponents score low, made for a successful team.

Two of the better games of the season were with James Monroe. The small but fast trio of Hall, White, and Curtis kept the larger James Monroe jackets steadily moving.

Spending a majority of their time on fundamentals, the entire team practiced either two or three days a week, alternating the gym with the boys. Coach Floyd Binns used all players in a majority of the games.

Devilettes Declare Practice Worthwhile

as Cornwell of Warren moves in. Curtis of Culpeper lower right, reaches for ball as Heflin of Warren comes up. Culpeper's Brown watches close by.

With winter came girls' basketball practice. For the girls, practice was equally as much fun as work.

Any of the Devilettes will say that they threw the hook pass in their sleep at times, this being the opening work-out every day. The girls will also tell how much longer the seventh lap around the gym was than the first two or three!

The girls did a lot of actual playing in practice as the latter part of every practice they scrimmaged the Jayvee girls. The little girls gave the Devilettes quite a chase. This year for the first time the Varsity cagers held a scrimmage with the Madison girls in preparation for both teams' big games with Orange. Not a single Devilette, however, will deny that the fun and good sportsmanship experienced will more than justify the long hours of practice.

Cheerleaders' Yells Keep Teams Going

"One, two, now." At this clue, the Cheerleaders yelled any one of a number of yells supporting the teams of CHS. Whether it be indoors or out, football or basketball, boys' or girls' team, the cheerleaders served as morale builders for teams and leaders for the student body in the yelling. Attractively clad in blue sweaters with a gold letter and blue gaberdine skirts lined with gold, the nine girls were one of the best dressed groups in the state.

Decorating the two goal posts for the football games in the colors of the two teams was a major activity for the girls. Sponsoring pep rallies in the gym to acquaint the students with the new yells and to arouse school spirit before the games was just one of the many ways the cheerleaders boosted the team.

JV Cheerers Boost Junior Teams

High-stepping Junior Varsity Cheerleaders boost the morale of the Jayvee football team. They are A. Smith,

A. Clark, C. Seale, L. Stein—captain, R. Stinnett, J. Clark.

“The team was in a huddle
The captain lowered his head,
They all talked it over
And this is what they said:
We've gotta F-I-G-H-T
We've gotta F-I-G-H-T
We've gotta F-I-G-H-T
We've gotta fight now, boys,
We've gotta fight! Hike!”

This cheer remained the favorite of the six girls composing the Jayvee cheering squad for 1955-56.

A call went out early in September for all girls interested in cheering for the Jayvee squads. After the girls had held several practices, a group of teachers, including Mr. James Stover, Mrs. Gary Waugh, Mr. Floyd Binns, and Mrs. William Houck, and Patricia Mills, the captain of the Varsity Cheerleaders, selected the ones to get a place on the squad on the basis of their agility, jump, pep, and gracefulness in carrying out the cheers.

The squad chose navy blue skirts, white turtleneck sweaters with the letters they received from the Athletic Department, and oxfords as their uniforms. Monogram consisted of an 8-inch gold cheville “C” with dark blue trim. Larger than the Varsity letters, they lacked the blue megaphone which the Varsity insignia carried. They lead the cheers at the jayvee games to give encouragement and boost the morale of the boys and, felt they had a part in the undefeated jayvee football season.

At the Varsity football games the group assisted the Rinkydinks with the selling of the programs. Following an old tradition of CHS, the jayvee girls decorated the goal posts for their undefeated team. One post was decorated in the opponents’ color, while on the other the blue and gold streamers were a familiar sight as they hung in the breeze. The cheerleaders decorated a jeepster with blue and gold streamers and rode through town in the Home-Coming Parade. Following the Varsity Cheerleaders the two groups led yells along the line of march.

The cheerleaders practiced every Monday and Wednesday after school during football season. When the season was over they revised the yells for the basketball season. Although cheering for the jayvee team was the first goal of the girls, they also cheered for the varsity girls in the absence of the Varsity Cheerleaders. This absence was caused often during the season by all four teams playing at the same time, both home and away.

In the spring, the club held tryouts for new cheerleaders for the following year. All the girls trying out for the squad were taught a yell, which they practiced at great length. Using this yell they led candidates for the squad. Agility, jump, pep, and gracefulness in carrying out the cheers were the basis for selection of future squad members.

PRESENTING BUSINESSES

ALONG CULPEPER'S ROADS

As a final stop on the highways of Culpeper County, there are the business establishments which have found the COLONNADE a fine medium of advertising. Although primarily the businesses advertising on the following pages are to be found in Culpeper, there are also business firms of surrounding areas.

Without the interest and assistance of these merchants, many of the school's functions would not have been possible. The COLONNADE Staff is proud to have the names of these men and businesses listed in the book. Realizing the importance of the school in providing leaders of tomorrow, the businessmen in Culpeper and surrounding areas have undertaken to better their own business and at the same time facilitate the staff in the production of the book.

Advertising through the medium of the COLONNADE, provides an opportunity for businessmen to place their products before the public and enjoy the lasting effect. Recognizing that the COLONNADE went into approximately 500 homes, enterprising men of Culpeper and adjacent sections took this opportunity to advertise.

These firms are situated on roads and streets; some are on main highways while others serve small communities on secondary roads. Culpeper High School students traveled these roads to patronize the advertisers.

Secondary road 704, lower left, leading to State Route 522 near Slate Mills. Fredericksburg road, upper left, State Route 3, approaching Lignum. Looking north, upper right, State Route 229, at Kerrick's Bridge, beyond Rixeyville. U. S. Route 522, lower right, Sperryville Road, about seven and one-half miles from town to Culpeper, looking toward town. Ad solicitors N. Jenkins and C. Seale, center, getting their share of the 20 pages of ads.

The Staff of the 1956 COLONNADE wish to thank the following, whose aid, either financially or through the generous donation of their time and efforts, has paved the road by which this staff has been able to present to the student body this yearbook:

Mrs. Leon Seigneur, for developing and printing pictures promptly, not only throughout the year, but when the deadline was drawing near;

The advertisers, for wholeheartedly supporting the yearbook financially;

Mr. W. L. Dooley, of The Stone Printing and Manufacturing Company, and Mr. Jack Murray, of the Roanoke Engraving Company, for their cooperation in the engraving and printing of this yearbook.

The advisers, for their generosity, time, and patience with the Staff—especially Miss Mary George Bolen, chief adviser, for her tireless efforts on behalf of the 1956 yearbook.

Making Temporary Stop

The school buses have been taken off the road and lined up, symbolizing the end of another school year. The buses and the students have traveled hard the roads of the county and learning.

With the ending of the year, many students will travel different roads. The seniors will leave to travel the roads of further education, business, and home life. Each will put into use the skills gained at Culpeper High School.

Just as the school buses will start out again next fall after a period of inactivity, underclass students will return with renewed determination and a desire to maintain or to improve their individual record on the highway of learning.

The COLONNADE Staff has endeavored to portray a typical year at CHS by means of the connection between highways of learning and actual roads of the county. The faculty who guide students along the road, the students who are the basis of the school and enact the role of the travelers, and the organizations which furnish both training and recreation—these made the 1955-1956 year at CHS more than a mere path. It has been a primary highway on which future citizens of Culpeper and the world have trod.
